WELCOME

Dear Participants,

The Third National People of Color Legal Scholarship Conference fulfills the promise that the six regional People of Color scholarship conferences—the Mid-Atlantic, Midwestern, Northeast, Southeast, Southwest, and Western—made in 1999 to come together approximately every five years to examine and support the role of faculty of color in the teaching of law. In March 2009, law faculty from every region, Latina & Latino Critical Legal Theory, Inc. (LatCrit), the Society of American Law Teachers (SALT), and the Conference of Asian Pacific American Law Faculty (CAPALF) began to organize the Third National Conference.

The theme of the conference is Our Country, Our World in a “Post-Racial” Era. The conference features a special session with the Reverend Jesse Jackson, facilitated by Professor Michele B. Goodwin of the University of Minnesota Law School. A media plenary session will explore the meaning of a “post-racial” society and its relevance to legal scholarship and teaching. The conference also includes a Pipeline Program and Junior Faculty and Development Workshops to assist emerging scholars and those about to enter legal academia to develop scholarly agendas and become better teachers. Several events, including a reception at the Newark Museum and presentation of Revolution ‘67, a documentary focusing on the 1967 race riots, will facilitate informal discussions. The Honorable Cory A. Booker, Mayor of Newark, New Jersey, will deliver opening remarks to kick-off the conference.

Seton Hall Law School serves as a fitting site for the conference. The only private law school in New Jersey, Seton Hall Law is committed to diversity in the profession, as demonstrated by its diverse faculty, its thirty year-old Legal Education Opportunities (LEO) admissions program for students from underrepresented communities, numerous clinics that serve the indigent and underserved, and its partnership with pipeline programs such as the New Jersey Law and Education Empowerment Project (NJ LEEP).

The Third National Conference promises to be as exciting and engaging as its predecessors. We thank you for joining us.

Sincerely,

The Third National People of Color

Legal Scholarship Conference Steering Committee

The Third National People of Color Legal Scholarship Conference does not discriminate on the basis of any identity status or scholarly perspective. We are strongly dedicated to the pursuit of excellence by including and integrating individuals who represent different groups, including those based on race, ethnicity, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, religion, socioeconomic background, age, disability, immigration or veteran status, or any other status.
