Alison Hinds-Pearl is Vice President, Chief Compliance Officer and Assistant General Counsel at Revlon. She is responsible for the Company's global Ethics and Compliance Program, Labor and Employment, Data Privacy, Cybersecurity and Physical Security.

Prior to joining Revlon, Alison successfully held various legal, compliance and business roles in the public and private sectors. Alison started her career as a prosecutor with the Office of the District Attorney, Bronx County, New York. The trial experience and investigatory skills she acquired as a prosecutor prepared Alison for success as a civil litigator with a healthcare boutique law firm in NYC.

After several years in private practice, Alison embarked upon a new career path in the corporate sector. She served as in-house counsel with Quest Diagnostics, managing litigation and providing regulatory compliance advice. Alison leveraged this experience to take on various leadership roles in the business as well as in the Legal and Compliance departments with Bayer Corporation. Alison's comprehensive legal and compliance experience in the highly regulated healthcare industry laid the foundation for her successful tenure in the financial services industry, leading Mastercard's North America Anti-Corruption Compliance Program.

Alison earned her law degree from Indiana University School of Law in Bloomington, Indiana, and her undergraduate degree in Literature from American University in Washington, D.C.

Alison volunteers her time to serve as a member of the Board of Trustees for the Rye Country Day School in Rye, NY. She and her husband are proud parents of their teenaged son who attends Rye Country Day and is an avid hockey player on the school's hockey team.
