Bruce Wayne

Supervisory Special Agent (SSA)

Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) – Newark Division

Bruce Wayne is a Supervisory Special Agent (SSA) at the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) - Newark Division. SSA Wayne currently leads a team of Special Agents, Analysts and other Professional Staff who conduct federal investigations of health care fraud and opioid drug diversion.

SSA Wayne has over 14 years of experience working as a Special Agent in the FBI. SSA Wayne's FBI career began in the New York Division, where SSA Wayne worked on the FBI's New York Health Care Fraud Task Force for 10 years. SSA Wayne also spent approximately three years working national security investigations in New York City. SSA Wayne transferred to the FBI Newark Division in late 2021 where he has worked exclusively on health care fraud and opioid diversion matters, taking over as the Supervisor of these programs in June 2023.

Prior to joining the FBI, SSA Wayne worked as a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) in Ernst and Young's auditing and risk advisory practices in New York City. In addition to maintaining his CPA license, SSA Wayne is also licensed as a Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE). SSA Wayne holds a Bachelor's Degree in Economics/Business from Lafayette College as well as a Master of Science Degree in Accounting from the University of Virginia.
