Jennifer Oliva specializes in health law and policy, FDA law, drug policy, evidence, and complex litigation. An honors graduate of Georgetown University Law Center, she was a Public Interest Law Scholar and served as Executive Notes & Comments Editor of The Georgetown Law Journal. Prior to attending law school, she earned a Master's in Business Administration at Balliol College, Oxford University. She was elected as a Rhodes and Truman Scholar while a cadet at the United States Military Academy. After law school, she served as a federal appellate law clerk to the Honorable Stephanie K. Seymour on the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit and the Honorable Thomas L. Ambro on the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. She was subsequently appointed Deputy State Solicitor of the State of Delaware by then-Attorney General Beau Biden.

Professor Oliva has worked in the appellate and health/FDA law practice groups at national law firms and served as the General Counsel and Vice President of a regional behavioral health care company. She is a United States Army veteran and admitted to the bar in Delaware, California, and the District of Columbia. She also is admitted to numerous U.S. district and appellate courts, including the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims and the U.S. Supreme Court. She served as the 2020 Chair of the AALS Section on Law and Mental Disability and was recently elected as Secretary of the AALS Section on Law, Medicine and Health Care and to the Executive Board of the AALS Section on Biolaw. She was selected as a 2019 Wiet Life Science Law Scholar by the Loyola University Beazley Institute for Health Law and Policy, a 2020 Health Law Scholar by Saint Louis University Center for Health Law Studies and the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics, and the recipient of the 2021 Health Law Community Service Award by the AALS Section on Law, Medicine, and Health Care. The Harry S. Truman Foundation honored her with the 2019 Truman Scholarship Foundation Ike Skelton Award for her commitment to public service and the Seton Hall Law student body selected Professor Oliva for the 2021 Paula Franzese Excellence in Teaching (Professor of the Year) Award. She was recently appointed to the National Pain Advocacy Center's Science and Policy Advisory Council.

Prior to joining the faculty at Seton Hall Law, Professor Oliva served three years as Associate Professor of Law and Public Health at West Virginia University, where she was selected as the College of Law's 2017-2018 Professor of the Year and the West Virginia Law Review's 2017-2018
