

Cassandra Porter

Associate General Counsel

Cassandra M. Porter, CIPP/US, CIPM, FIP, PLS is in-house counsel for a leading software as a service company working to transform clients' businesses for the subscription economy. She advises internal clients on data privacy-related matters including: data privacy and security agreement terms, incident response, and generally assists the organization manage its related obligations. Previously, she served privacy counsel for a $15B global technology consulting company where she oversaw data privacy matters for the Americas. She is a former law clerk for the Honorable Cecelia Morris, United States Bankruptcy Judge for the Southern District of New York and a regular presenter of continuing education seminars for the Association of Corporate Counsel (ACC) and Financial Poise. Her articles have appeared in publications such as Practical Law, Law360, American Bankruptcy Trustee Journal, along with publications from the ACC, IAPP, and ABI.

Before practicing law, she built a foundation for her career in data privacy as a senior reference librarian and acquired a master's degree from Pratt Institute. Cassandra obtained her law degree from Brooklyn Law School and a law certificate from Seton Hall University Law School. She is admitted to practice in New York and New Jersey state and federal courts.