

Seton Hall Law School Orientation

Instructions for Students

8.15.25

Telling Our Stories and Creating Connections

Please bring three items or pictures of these items that best represent who you are to Lawyering Day on August 15, 2025. This will be used during your first orientation session on Lawyering Day.

These items should represent important parts of your life story and life experiences. Please be sure that at least two of your items focus on your “social identities.” (“Social identities” include, for example, race, ethnicity, gender, sex, age, ability status, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic class, or nationality). These items should help others gain a deeper understanding of who you are. Please think hard about what items you choose. Be sure to respect your preferences regarding privacy, but at the same time, please try to find items that will help others understand you in a more profound way. Think of things that others might not know about you. Consider challenges and hardships as well as joyous aspects of your life.