Professor Pavithra Angara

Pavithra Angara is an Adjunct Professor of Appellate Advocacy for Seton Hall University School of Law, as well as a Deputy Attorney General and Special Assistant to the Director of the Division of Law for the New Jersey Office of the Attorney General. Over her fourteen years with the State, she has developed experience in all aspects of civil litigation and appeals, as well as more recently focusing on the management and supervision of affirmative civil enforcement matters across various practice areas including Antitrust, Consumer Fraud, Civil Rights, Data Privacy, Government Fraud, Labor, Professional Boards, Securities Fraud, and Special Litigation matters. She also serves as the primary ethics officer for the Division of Law, responsible for the training, implementation, and oversight of the department's ethics code.

She earned her undergraduate degree in Health Sciences from Boston University and her law degree from Seton Hall University School of Law.