Professor Emily Pirro

Professor Emily Pirro is the Lead Appellate Prosecutor for the Somerset County Prosecutor's Office, where she handles complex criminal appeals involving multi-defendant and multi-victim homicide appeals, sexual assault, kidnapping, firearms offenses, and gang-related violence. She also co-authors amicus briefs on behalf of the County Prosecutors Association of New Jersey and supervises junior appellate prosecutors and the office's internship program. In her role, she frequently appears before the New Jersey Supreme Court and the New Jersey Appellate Division. Before joining Somerset County in 2022, Professor Pirro handled criminal appeals in the Essex County Prosecutor's Office, served in the Appellate Unit of the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office, and clerked in the chancery division in Middlesex County. Professor Pirro earned her B.A. in Psychology from the University of Connecticut and her J.D. from William & Mary Law School. She is the first lawyer in her family.
