

SETON HALL | LAW

KATHLEEN BOOZANG

Dean & Professor of Law

SETON HALL UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

Kathleen Boozang has been Dean of Seton Hall Law since July 2015. She has served in multiple administrative capacities during her tenure at Seton Hall, including Associate Dean for Academic Affairs for eight years and Vice Provost for two years.

Dean Boozang came to Seton Hall in 1990 as the founder of the Law School's now top-ranked Center for Health & Pharmaceutical Law & Policy. Prior to becoming Dean, she also established the Law School's graduate degrees, Division of Online Learning, and global life sciences compliance training programs.

Dean Boozang teaches a variety of health law courses in person and online, including the survey health law course, a course on health care fraud and corruption, and death and dying. In her scholarship, she has dedicated much of her career to nonprofit governance issues with a special focus on religiously sponsored hospitals. In the last several years, however, she has expanded her research and teaching to explore the legal and policy issues related to corporate compliance, with a particular focus on the global life sciences industry.

Dean Boozang is a Fellow of The Hastings Center, an independent nonprofit bioethics research institute, as well as a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation, an honorary organization of legal practitioners. She is also a member of the American Law Institute and participates on the consultant groups for the Principles of Nonprofit Law and Corporate Compliance. She serves on the Editorial Board of the Journal of Health and Life Sciences Law and is a past editor-in-chief of the Journal of Law, Medicine & Ethics. She is past president of the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics (ASLME) and also previously sat on the Advisory Board of the Journal of Health Law. She also served for many years on the Board of Directors of the American Health Lawyers Association (AHLA), and remains involved in many AHLA projects.

Throughout her legal career, Dean Boozang has been active in public service. She has served on numerous advisory boards and committees for healthcare providers and for the states of New Jersey and New York, including serving as an advisor to the New Jersey Attorney General Task Force on Physician Compensation by Pharmaceutical Companies, which resulted in the promulgation of proposed regulation. She is a former member of the New York State Task Force on Life and the Law, an interdisciplinary commission with a mandate to develop public policy on bioethical issues.

Dean Boozang currently serves on the Board of Trustees of the St. Joseph Healthcare System in New Jersey. In 2013, the ASLME conferred upon her the Jay Healy Health Law Teacher Award. She was named the Seton Hall University Woman of the Year in 2006, and the Washington University Law School's Young Alum of the Year in 2004.

Dean Boozang graduated from Washington University School of Law in St. Louis, Missouri, where she was inducted into the Order of the Coif and served as the managing editor of LAW QUARTERLY. She received her LL.M. from Yale Law School in 1990.

HARRY FIRST

Charles L. Denison Professor of Law & Co-Director, Competition, Innovation, and Information Law Program
NEW YORK UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

Harry First is the Charles L. Denison Professor of Law at New York University School of Law and Co-Director of the law school's Competition, Innovation, and Information Law Program. From 1999-2001, he served as Chief of the Antitrust Bureau of the Office of the Attorney General of the State of New York. His teaching interests include antitrust, regulated industries, international and comparative antitrust, business crime, and innovation policy. He is the co-author of the casebook Free Enterprise and Economic Organization: Antitrust (7th Ed. 2014) (with John Flynn and Darren Bush), as well as a casebook on regulated industries (with John Flynn). He was twice a Fulbright Research Fellow in Japan and taught antitrust as an adjunct professor at the University of Tokyo.

Professor First's most recent scholarly work has focused on various aspects of antitrust enforcement and theory. These include: The Microsoft Antitrust Cases: Competition Policy for the Twenty-first Century (with Andrew I. Gavil) (MIT Press, 2014), winner of the Jerry S. Cohen Memorial Fund Writing Award for Antitrust Scholarship; "Exploitative Abuses of Intellectual Property Rights" in The Cambridge Handbook of Antitrust, Intellectual Property, and High Tech (2017); "Philadelphia National Bank, Globalization, and the Public Interest" (Antitrust Law Journal, 2015) (with Eleanor M. Fox); "Your Money and Your Life: The Export of U.S. Antitrust Remedies" in Global Competition Law and Economics (Stanford Univ. Press, 2013); "Antitrust's Democracy Deficit" (with Spencer Weber Waller) (Fordham Law Review, 2013), winner of the Institute of Competition Law's 2014 Antitrust Writing Award for Best General Antitrust Academic Article; and two chapters in The Design of Competition Law Institutions: Global Norms, Local Choices (Oxford Univ. Press, 2013), one dealing with the United States (with Eleanor Fox and Daniel Hemli), the other with Japan (with Tadashi Shiraishi). Professor First is also the author of a casebook on business crime and of "Business Crime and the Public Interest: Lawyers, Legislators, and the Administrative State" (University of California Irvine Law Review, 2012).

Professor First is a contributing editor of the Antitrust Law Journal, foreign antitrust editor of the Antitrust Bulletin, a member of the executive committee of the Antitrust Section of the New York State Bar Association, and a member of the advisory board and a Senior Fellow of the American Antitrust Institute.

MARTIN S. GAYNOR

E.J. Barone University Professor of Economics and Health Policy
CARNEGIE MELLON UNIVERSITY

Martin Gaynor's research focuses on competition in health care markets and on the role of incentive structures within health care. This is being investigated within the context of the current rapidly changing structure of health care markets, with implications for appropriate antitrust and regulatory policy in this area.

Professor Gaynor is a research associate of the National Bureau of Economic Research in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and the Centre for Market and Public Organisation at the University of Bristol in the United Kingdom. Prior to coming to Carnegie Mellon, he was on the faculty of Johns Hopkins University. He has also taught at a number of other universities and was a visitor at the Institute of Economics of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences in Budapest, Hungary in 1991.

Professor Gaynor has served as a consultant to the Federal Trade Commission, U.S. Department of Justice, and the California Department of Corporations on antitrust issues. He has given testimony before the Federal Trade Commission and U.S. Department of Justice and the California State Senate and has participated in briefings for U.S. House of Representatives Staff. He also serves on the editorial boards of the American Economic Review, Health Services Research, the International Journal of Health Care Finance and Economics, RandForums for Health Economics and Policy, Health Economics, Policy, and Law, and edited a symposium on incentives and competition in health care markets for the Rand Journal of Economics. He is a referee for numerous professional journals, and works with the National Science Foundation, Agency for Health Care Policy Research, National Institute of Mental Health, National Institute on Drug Abuse, Veterans Administration, and National Endowment for the Humanities as an ad hoc grant reviewer.

Professor Gaynor is listed among the top 1,000 economists in the world and in Who's Who in America. He received the Kenneth J. Arrow Award for best published paper in health economics worldwide in 1995. He is a 1995 recipient of a Robert Wood Johnson Fellowship for research on antitrust and competition in health care markets. He also delivered the R. Allen Moran Memorial Lecture at Lehigh University in 1992, and received the FIRST Award (First Independent Research Support and Transition), given by the National Institute of Mental Health, 1990-1993.

Professor Gaynor received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from the University of California, San Diego, in 1977, a Master of Arts in Economics from Northwestern in 1979, and a Ph.D. in Economics from Northwestern in 1983.

THOMAS L. ("TIM") GREANEY

Visiting Professor
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, HASTINGS COLLEGE OF THE LAW

Before joining UC Hastings, Tim Greaney was the Chester A. Myers Professor of Law and Director of the Center for Health Law Studies at Saint Louis University School of Law (SLU). Prior to joining the SLU Law faculty, he served as an Assistant Chief in the Department of Justice, Antitrust Division, specializing in health care antitrust litigation, and completed a visiting professorship at Yale Law School. He has also been a Fulbright Fellow studying European Community competition law in Brussels, and has been a visiting scholar at Université Paris Dauphine in Paris, Seton Hall University, and the University of Minnesota. Professor Greaney was named Jay Healy Health Law Professor of the Year by the American Society of Law, Medicine and Ethics in 2007. He received his B.A., magna cum laude, from Wesleyan University and his J.D. from Harvard Law School.

MARINA LAO

Professor of Law

SETON HALL LAW SCHOOL

Marina Lao joined the Seton Hall Law faculty in 1994, after over a decade of practice experience in government and in the private sector. She took a leave of absence from February 2015 to June 2016, to serve as the Director of the Office of Policy Planning at the U.S. Federal Trade Commission.

Professor Lao teaches courses on antitrust law, business associations, administrative law, and commercial law. She has written, lectured, and commented extensively on antitrust law and policy. Additionally, she has offered invited testimony to the House Judiciary Committee, and presented at workshops convened by the U.S. Federal Trade Commission and the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice. She is a member of the advisory board of the American Antitrust Institute, and was Chair of the Section of Antitrust and Economic Regulation of the Association of American Law Schools.

Professor Lao was awarded a Fulbright Fellowship in 2007-2008 to the University of Munich and the Max Planck Institute for Intellectual Property, Competition and Tax Law in Munich, where she taught U.S. Antitrust Law. She was named the inaugural Maury Cartine Research Endowment Fellow in 2010, the Edward S. Hendrickson Professor in 2008, the Andrea Catania Fellow for Excellence in Teaching for 2003-2005, and the Dean's Fellow for 2003-2005, and 2000-2001.

Professor Lao began her legal career with the U.S. Department of Justice, Antitrust Division, as a trial attorney under the Honors Program following graduation from Albany Law School on a three-year full scholarship.