Baker McKenzie (Brussels)

els.janssens@bakermckenzie.com

Els Janssens specializes in commercial law, litigation, and health care regulatory issues in the firm's Brussels office.

Ms. Janssens worked as senior regulatory counsel for Johnson & Johnson supporting the company's global safety operations and advising on regulatory issues in relation to specific medicinal products. She also worked as legal advisor in the European Medicines Agency, where she advised management, scientific committees, CMD(h), and the European Commission on a wide variety of issues in connection with authorization procedures, submission requirements, pharmacovigilance obligations and procedures, as well as inspections.

Based in Abu Dhabi from 2014 to 2019, Ms. Janssens advised both multinational medical devices and pharmaceutical clients on health care regulations in the EU and UAE.

Ms. Janssens advises multinational pharmaceutical clients and investors on health care regulations in the EU and UAE. She equally supports the global health care group of the firm with knowledge management for the health care sector. Her representative legal matters include advising Korys NV on regulatory aspects related to acquisition of Newpharma (online pharmacy business); advising Belgian biotechs on regulatory aspects in context of contemplated IPOs; secondment to Cleveland Clinic Abu Dhabi to provide support with commercial contracts, compliance, and setting up the internal legal function; and assisting EFPIA with coordination of a survey on confidentiality rules application in various EU countries for the purpose of HTA and pricing and reimbursement procedures as well as joint procurement.
