North Jersey Community Research Initiative (NJCRI)

Emily Levaggi, Program Manager of Hepatitis C Elimination Program, 340B and Specialty Medications at North Jersey Community Research Initiative (NJCRI), has over 16 years of experience in the healthcare industry with specific knowledge in 340B program operations, advocacy, and compliance procedures. Before working for a covered entity, Emily was a senior pharmacy technician for a new specialty pharmacy and she assisted with developing and implementing policies compliant with URAC and ACHC, as well as developing teams and organizing workflow as the pharmacy grew. Prior to working in the pharmacy field, Emily worked in mental health with pediatric patients in a variety of settings: acute hospital ward, long-term group home, and state residential treatment facilities. She has extensive knowledge of the process for patients with Hepatitis C to access and complete treatment as well as prevalent experience working as a liaison between the patient, provider, contract pharmacy teams, insurance representatives, and third-party administrator personnel to ensure each patient is taken care of, while also confirming each claim is accurately processed and qualified, if appropriate. Emily received her Bachelor of Arts & Sciences from Southeast Missouri State University and is PTCB-certified.
