

Jennifer Carleton

jcarleton@sightlinepayments.com

Before joining Sightline Payments in 2021 as its first Chief Legal Officer, Jennifer Carleton was in-house counsel for an Indian casino for a decade and then spent 14 years in private practice as adviser to some of the premier public and private gaming and investment companies in the world.

Working in gaming her entire career has enabled Jennifer to develop a unique expertise in payments, mobile, internet and sports gaming, as well as an insider's familiarity with the unique issues that arise when technology and regulation intersect. Jennifer is helping to establish an advanced Indian law and gaming curriculum at the UNLV Boyd School of Law through her teaching at the law school and her recent appointment as a Distinguished Fellow.
