Léonie Dhellemmes

Associate, Competition and European Law Department
Reed Smith LLP

Léonie is an associate in the Competition and European Law department at the Paris office.

She advises on competition law and European regulatory matters, particularly in the context of regulatory analyses and litigation cases. She has gained solid experience in European law through her previous roles at the European Commission and international law firms.

Before joining the firm, Léonie completed several internships in competition law and litigation, notably at the European Commission, as well as at the law firms Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP and Borrel d'Arche.

Léonie holds a Master's degree in European Business and Competition Law from Paris-Panthéon-Assas University (2022) and a Master's degree in Management from ESCP Business School. She also holds a Master's degree in Business Law from Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University.
