Lucas Nicolet-Serra is a partner at the firm where he advises clients across the life sciences, digital health, and fintech sectors. His practice focuses on complex cross-border transactions, regulatory compliance, and technology-driven innovation, with a particular emphasis on AI, data privacy, digital assets, and medical technology.

Lucas represents multinational corporations, financial investors, and fast-growth technology companies on matters involving M&A, post-deal integration, data governance, and regulatory strategy across Asia-Pacific. He has significant experience navigating sector-specific legal frameworks in emerging and highly regulated industries.

Qualified in France, England, and Wales, and registered to practice in Singapore, Lucas brings an international perspective and operational insight, having previously completed in-house secondments with both a global pharmaceutical group and a US medical device company in ASEAN.
