

SETON HALL | LAW

Healthcare Compliance
Certificate Program

Matt Carter

Head of U.S. Risk Management

Bayer U.S. LLC

matthew.carter@bayer.com

Matt Carter has held his current position for five years and has spent fifteen years with the company, initially responsible for implementation of the Sarbanes Oxley act, moving next into global system compliance positions and then to risk management. In his current position, he is responsible for the oversight of a comprehensive U.S. Enterprise Risk Management process to identify, categorize, and mitigate risks associated with a U.S. business approximating $14 billion in revenue across the three Life Sciences divisions of Crop Science, Consumer Health, and Pharmaceuticals.

In more than thirty years of professional life, Mr. Carter has spent time as an internal auditor with Price Waterhouse Coopers, ten years within the finance area of IHS Markt with three years as European Controller and two years as Head of Finance for their largest global division. Additionally, he was four years with Deutsche Bank as Global Business Area Controller for the IT division of their Private Client/Asset Management business.

During his career, Mr. Carter has worked extensively in Europe, having spent four years in Frankfurt, one year in London, and one year in Geneva.

Mr. Carter was born in Colorado and has his B.S. in accounting from the University of Colorado—Boulder. He currently resides in West Orange, New Jersey, and works out of the Bayer offices in Whippany, New Jersey.