Patrick Gibson

Executive Director of Compliance Program Optimization
Otsuka

Patrick Gibson is Executive Director of Compliance Program Optimization at Otsuka, where he leads the Compliance Counseling, Investigations, and Operations teams.

Prior to joining Otsuka, Patrick served as Associate Vice President of Global Compliance Counseling at Organon & Co., where he helped design and implement the company's global compliance program following its spin-off from Merck, supporting operations across more than 140 markets.

Before Organon, Patrick spent more than 15 years at Merck & Co., Inc. in leadership roles spanning U.S. ethics and compliance, government investigations, and complex product liability litigation. These varied experiences have given him a broad perspective on what it takes to design, implement, and sustain effective compliance programs.

Patrick began his legal career in private practice at Hughes Hubbard & Reed in New York.
