Rachelle Paul is in her fourth year as the Director of Athletics at Saint Peter's University. Saint Peter's has had tremendous success in Paul's first three years at the helm of the athletic department and she recently became the first SPU athletic director to win the NCAA Division I Women Leaders in College Sports Nike Executive of the Year award. Possessing more than 15 years of athletic administration experience, Paul joined Saint Peter's after most recently serving as senior associate athletics director, senior woman administrator and deputy Title IX coordinator at Seton Hall University. Prior to her work at Seton Hall, Paul held positions at Monmouth University, Canisius College, the Northeast Conference (NEC) and the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAAC). She has served on a number of NCAA, BIG EAST and MAAC professional organizations throughout her career.

Paul graduated from Canisius College in 2003 with her bachelor's degree in communications and then completed her master's degree at Canisius in sport administration in 2004. A four-year letterwinner in women's lacrosse, she graduated from the program seventh in school history in career points (65), eighth in career goals (49), eighth in career assists (19) and third in career ground balls (133). She also earned two varsity letters as a member of the school's women's soccer team.
