Sebastián Unda McFarlane

Head of Legal & Compliance
Roche Colombia

Senior legal and compliance executive with over 20 years of experience leading legal, ethics, and compliance functions in the global pharmaceutical industry — from country affiliates to corporate headquarters across four continents.

With a deep interest in the intersection of law and technology, he has gained practical experience in AI governance, including risk classification of AI solutions under the EU AI Act and the design of AI registries at the enterprise level.

Throughout his career, Sebastian has consistently operated at the intersection of Legal, Commercial, and Digital — partnering with sales, market access, and medical teams to design compliance frameworks that enable commercial performance, not just protect against risk. His work spans multi-jurisdictional environments including Colombia, South Africa, and seven international regions, navigating GDPR-adjacent frameworks, IFPMA standards, and global audit readiness programmes.

He holds an LLM from the University of Glasgow, an MBA from Nanyang Technological University Singapore, and executive programmes at Wharton, Berkeley Haas, and Georgetown McDonough. A British and Colombian national, fluent in English and Spanish.
