Valda Clark Christian, JD, joined the University Hospitals Health System (UH) Compliance and Ethics Department in February 2019 as the System's Chief Compliance Officer. In this role, Valda is responsible for leading a best-in-class compliance and ethics program and for promoting a culture of integrity and transparency. An experienced healthcare leader, Valda has served for 20 years cumulatively as legal counsel to health systems, health care payers and as a health facility regulator. She has more than 10 years of experience in corporate compliance with extensive experience creating and implementing compliance programs. She is certified in both healthcare compliance (CHC) and in healthcare privacy compliance (CHPC). Immediately prior to her UH role, Valda was Vice President and Chief Compliance Officer for MedStar Health, Inc., the largest health care provider in the Mid-Atlantic region. She is married to Marcus A. Christian and has three children.
